YESTERDAY'S RACES. Myrtle Harkness and Cromwell in the Secon

and Hardly and Maud Ellis in the Third

Only Noces Apart. Yankee Doodle Downs

Ronald-Jockey Beauchamp Injured. The crary-headed, hard-mouthed four-year-old gelding Castleton ran away the wrong direction of the course at the Aqueduct track yesterday afternoon while the horses were being grouped for a start in the opening race, and crashed through the fence at the seven-furlong chute, throwing Jockey Beauchamp of California and breaking his collarbone. The injured rider was removed to the St. Mary's Hospital and is occupying a cot near that of F. Songer, who was thrown from Temple Bar last week. Songer is progressing rapidly toward convalescence and Beauchamp was reported as resting quietly last night. Beauchamp is, like Songer, a clever rider, and his employer, Will Wallace of Kentucky will miss his services at Morris Park.

The horse Castleton is a notorious runaway and is the animal which ran through the fence at Morris Park last spring when he was ridden by Jockey Shields. The stewards decided yesterday that the entry of Castleton would in the

The promise of some fairly good sport brought out about 4,000 persons to Aqueduct yesterday. The features of the day were the close finishe between Myrtle Harkness and Cromwell in the second race and of Hardly and Maud Ellis in the third, noses separating them at the judges' stand. Some thoughtless persons made stand. Some thoughtless persons made a demonstration because Cromwell's number was not hung up as the winner, but the spectators should always remember that the judge is the only man on the line, and Mr. Corier is a thoroughly competent man.

Kinnikine was a pronounced favorite for the opening dash at six furlongs, being played down from even money to 5 to 3 by his owner and a smart delegation of the talent. After Castleton had run through the fence and unborsed Beauchamp, the worthless brote ran into the paddock. Nobody wanted the mount, so the flag was thrown on the other five. Kinnikinio played with his opponents after the 30 to 1 chance. Ten Stot, had led to the turn, and won pulling up from Sun Up, who got up in time to beat the outsider half a length for second money. Kinnikinic is a pretty smart colt at sprinting unikinic is a pretty smart colt at sprinting distances just now.
Cromwell and W. B. were considered the good

Cromwell and W. B. were considered the good things in the second event, a dash at one mile, but Sims shot Myrtle Harkness to the front at the start and led all the way. Cromwell, after being kept out of it in the early part of the race, closed very fast, and only falled to get up by a mose. He was in front one stride after the wire was passed and he was clearly the best horse in the race. Alarum, in a drive, beat Tanis home for third money.

Hardly at even money and the 10 to 1 chance was passed and he was clearly the beet horse in the race. Alarum, in a drive, beat Tanis home for third money.

Hardly at even money and the 10 to 1 chance Maud Ellis had a furious battle for the money in the third race. Juda and Fleeting Gold made the running, giving way to Hardly and Maud Ellis a sixteenth of a unile from home. It was a whipping thirsh, and Sims managed to get the half sister to Heckon home first by a few inches. Fleeting Gold was third, close up. Fivefurlongs seems to be as far as Juda cares to go nowadays. Hen konsid was the choice for the mile an 1 a furlong selling race, but the three-year-old was unable to concede such a big lump of weight to a horse like Yankee Doodle, and Ed Pursor's four-year-old won all the way. Skeets Martin was sitting still at the sixteenth pole, and thus very wheely desisted punishing the honest Ben Ronald. Marshall was a fair third. King T. had speed for a portion of the journey, but falled to make his customary spirited dash through the homestretch.

John Daly's filly Isen won the fifth event, for which there were ten starters. It was a dash for two-year-olds at five furlongs, and the Western colt Ferd Owen was favorite at 2½ to 1, with The Cad next in favor at 4 to 1. Bevelyne, Isen, and Pink Chambray carried more money than any of the others. Bevelyne was left at the post, so that her backers were quickly out of their misery. Laurel Leaf led into the stretch, where there was a general closing up, and Isen drew away, winning cleverly at the end, with The Cad second and Laurel Leaf third. The Cad was responsible for much of the delay at the post.

post. Eder was favorite at olds on for the mile

Ben Eder was favorite at olds on for the mile dash, but a lot of money went in on the two-year-old Siy Fox, whose price came tumbling from 6 to 1 at the opening to 2½ to 1 at the close. Siy Fox and Courtshio II. made the running for nearly seven furiongs, where Sims cut loose with Ben Eder and won galloping. Siy Fox under the whip beat the other two-year-old, Warrenton, a neck for second money, Arabian pulled up iame after the first race.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN. The London Field on the Great Progress Made

Jimmy Michael, the Welsh rider, and J. W. Stocks, the English professional, are waging a bitter war on the short and long distance world's figures. A new record by Michael means a fresh attempt by Stocks, so that the record quotations during the last few weeks have been on the jump constantly.

of records, says: "The record-making season par excellenc may be said to set in each year as soon as the regular racing comes to an end and racing men find themselves with nothing else to do. After being in more or less strict training for six

the wonderful progress made in the reduction months, they are naturally in the best of condition for performing feats of this kind, if their powers are equal to the task, and the fact that unprecedented performances, if made at this time of the year, stand a chance of remaining on the books for six months or so, instead of enjoying a butterfly existence as falls to the lot of those made earlier in the year, is a strong incentive for men to strive after these coveted distinctions. The pace attained in record rides has become so great that it is necessary to chronicle each new advance, in case it should mark the ultimate limit of human capabilities with present appliances and remain unbeaten for some considerable time; so far, however, we must confess to having been disappointed in this expectation, and records, like eggs, appear to be made only to be broken.

"This week has seen a further increase in the distance covered in the hour, as on Monday last distance covered in the hour, as on Monday last J. W. Stocks, at the Crystal Palace, rode 32 miles 1,086 yards in that time, and put up new figures for each mile from six to thirty-three miles, the latter distance being ridden in 1 hour 1 minutes and 34 2-5 seconds, against the 1 hour 2 minutes 17 4-5 seconds recently made by the Weishman, J. Michael, in the United States. The following evening, on the same track, T. James and G. A. Nelson rode fen miles on a tandem bicycle in 17 minutes 50 2-5 seconds, beating the records for tandems after the first mile and surpassing Stocks's single records for rour, five, six, and seven miles, made the previous day.

mile and surpassing Stocks's single records for tour, five, six, and seven miles, made the previous day.

"We have often referred to the artificial or bogus' character of records made behind pacemakers, who, whether furnished with mechanical wind shelids, as is now customary, or not, greatly accelerate the pace of the rider by removing the chief obstacle to his progress. A twenty-four hours' ride against time made last Sunday by the French professional Corre in France, without pacemakers, is in striking contrast to the recent record put up by Cordang, Corre's ride of 671 kilos, 963 metres on the track shows what can be done on a bicycle without extraneous assistance, and is thus a genuine performance. Cordang, riding behind wind shields, covered 1,000 kilos, in 24 hours 12 minutes 21 4.5 seconds. If we assume that the capabilities of these men are about equal, it will be seen that nearly one-third of the distance in the latter case is due to the use of wind shields. These assisted rides answer the purpose of their promoters, which is that of advertisement, but those who regard them as purely bicycle achievements fall into a rievous error."

According to the Field Stocks's record for the hour is 32 miles 1,088 yards, as against Michael's new record, 32 miles 663 yards. The latter time, made on last Saturday, was claimed as world's time on the supposition that Stocks was aided by motor pacing. According to advices from England the official timekeepers of the N. C. U., Coleman and Powell, timed Stocks's performance, which discredits the theory that his record was made with motor pacemakers. It looks very much as though Michael's time will stand merely as an American record.

At a meeting of the Farkway Bowling Club of Brocklyn, held on Friday evening last at Fuchs's aliers, Seventh avenue, corner Ninth street, the following officers were elected: William Miller, President: George E. Prosser, Secretary; August Yon Hasslen, Treasurer, and William J. Miller, Captain.

-Julian Curtiss Talks of Vale-Other News. The London Field of Oct. 2, commenting on and C. C. Cuyler, has been sent to the Faculty Committee asking for games with Pennsylvania, and until such a request is framed no action can be expected from the faculty.

The whole agitation, which has worked up both universities to an enthusiastic pitch, was started by a Philadelphian, who sent postal cards, to all Princeton and Pennsylvania men asking whether they favored a game to be played this year. In response he got all sorts of replies, the majority of which were favorable to the opening of peace negotiations. The played this year. In response he got all sorts of replies, the majority of which were favorable to the opening of peace negotiations. Then he took the replies and made a vote out of them to the effect that the renewal of old contests was the desire of both sides. The Princeton athletic advisers, however, remembering the causes for trouble in the past, were not so anxious to meet the Quakers unless the latter should display a willingness to come to the terms held sucred by Princeton men for years. If the Pennsylvania men want peace and are willing to listen to propositions which Princeton men consider fair, they can get a line on the situation by reading the following, which is on the authority of Princeton leaders who wash The SUN to state their side of the case:

"If the consent of the Princeton Faculty Athletic Committee is asked for new relations with Pennsylvania it will not be secured unticertain things have been done. If Pennsylvania wants a football game she must consent to induge in other sports, such as baseball and track athletics. The Quakers must also agree to a term of years, three or five, and must also accept the most stringent rules relating to the eligibility and amateur status of players. They must also consent to play all contests on college grounds alternately at Philadelphia and Princeton.

"These are the terms on which Pennsylvania can make peace, But as it is too late now to close such a complicated question, a football name this fall is out of the question. No matter what may turn up, however, Princeton will never consent to give up her annual games with Yaic. It is generally conceded that Penns with Yaic. It is generally conceded that Penns ter what may turn up, however, Princeton will never consent to give up her annual games with Yale. It is generally conceded that Pennsylvania is an advocate of a Harvard-Yale dual league and a similar organization between Princeton and Penn, the two winners to meet each year for the champlonship. Princeton will oppose any such scheme to the end, even though it might result in a permanent breach with Pennsylvania."

Thus is Princeton's position made plain. Pennsylvania can make peace by acceding to the Tigers wishes. The Quakers have tried in many ways of late to drive out evils which made so much trouble for them in the past, and from all accounts they will agree to almost anything proposed by Old Nassau. A reconciliation would be undoubtedly popular.

D. M. McLaughlin, the well-known Cornell football player, who is now manager of the team, was in town yesterday and talked quite freely about Ithaca's chances this year. "We have some splendid material on hand," said he, "and two expert conchers in Warner and Beacham. In fact, the outlook is so encouraging that if we fail to win some of our big games we will feel that we do not know how to play modern football. We started out with heavy backs, but that scheme has been partially done away with. The rush line will be very strong at centre and guards, and there is an abundance of fast ends. It is my belief that the team will be a big surprise. We will have a good test of our ability next Saturday when we meet Larayette. Cornell will have a well-conditioned, heavy team in the field, and the men will go into the game very conndently. Our battle with Harvard at Cambridge will be another hard go. When Princeton meets us at Ithaca there will be an immense crowd. As I said before, if coaching by two competent men and a raft of fine material count for anything, Cornell will redeem some of her lost laurels on the grid-iron."

Julian W. Curtiss, the well-known Yale alumnus, has been watching the varsity football men at work # New Haven. He is more hopeful than when the wearers of the blue were trampled under foot by Frinceton at Manhattan Field last year. "While I do not believe we can defeat the great Princeton team," said he yesdefeat the great Princeton team," said he yesterday, "atili I believe that we will give flarward a close rub. The material which has cropped out this year has never been excelled, and many of last year's players, who are still in college, will have a hard time to get back on the 'varsity. Cadwalader, the big fawrence-ville guard, is the find of the season, and Yale coaches will make a wonder of him. There are plenty of big, heavy men to make a rush line from and that means a great deal. Capt. Rodgers will play regularly at his old place at left tackie, and he will have the assistance of a vast army of expert coaches. The old spirit of left tackle, and he will have the assistance of a vast army of expert coaches. The old spirit of enthusiasm which carried Yale to the front so often in years gone by has been restored, and students and graduates alike are working with a will to bring back victory to old Yale again."

ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD.

TERMS ON WHICH TIGERS WILL

MEET THE QUAKERS AGAIN. tal Negotiations Hegun Vot, but Princeton is in Payor of a Renewal of All Branches of Sport Under Certain Conditions

There is nothing official in the movement to bring Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania together on the football field this fall. In fact, no authorized negotiations between the two universities for the resumption of any kind of sport have been attempted, and there will be none until the Quakers consent to rec-ognize conditions which the Tigers have insisted upon ever since the breach occurred in 1894. It is true that there is a more friendly feeling between the old rivals, and that in time peace and harmony may be restored. But at the present time the undergraduates and alumni of both universities are powerless to bring about a reconciliation because of an obstacle that has been in the way for three years. The football and baseball games with Pennsylvania were stopped in the winter of 1894-5 by the Princeton Faculty Athletic Committee, onsisting of Profs. Fine, Scott, and Wilson, chiefly because of the charges of ineligibility that were made against certain Pennsylvanians and also for the reason that the rivalry between the teams was growing too bitter. The action of this committee was final and without the consent of the members negotiations for a renewal of the old contests have been and are impossible. No request by the Graduate Advisory Committee, consisting of Tracey H. Harris, P. W. Muller, Edgar Allan Poe, Henry Duffield, and C. C. Cuyler, has been sent to the Faculty

A big crowd is expected at the game between Yale and the Carlisle Indians, which will be played at the Polo Grounds, instead of Manhattan Field, Jone week from Saturday. The griditon will, be iliad out from north to south, or rather the goal posts will be planted back of first and third bases. In this way the big grand stand, will skirt one entire side line, while the two big bleacheries will be back of the goal lines. The open space in the outfield will be roped off and spaces will be allotted to teams and spectators who care to stand up. The officials of the New York Baseball Club say that by this arrangement and the crection of a new open stand across the centre field they could provide seating capacity for 25,000 persons, or more than twice the number afforded by the stands in Manhattan Field. Many local, football enthusiasts regret that such an arena was not thought of before Yale and Princeton decided to play on college grounds because of the limited seating accommodations at Manhattan Field.

PERKRHIL, N. Y., Oct. 11.—A gloom pervades the athletic atmosphere of the Peekskill Military Academy. Their famous football team is sadly crippled. In their game with the Y. M. C. A. team of Mount Vernon at Mount Vernon on Saturday Francis A. Dugro of New York, full back on the team, while tackling was thrown and had his collar bone broken. It was a serious accident. A Mount Vernon physician reduced the fractures. Yesterday, however, the bones separated again and this morning the injured cadet is in quite a serious condition. Col. Louis II, Orleman, principal of the academy, went to New York city this morning to bring up a specialist in surgery to reset the broken bones. In the same game on Saturday U. Bert Lafranco of Pennsylvania, also playing on the P. M. A. team, had his ankle badly sprained. Incidentally the Peekskill team won the game 12 to 10.

Cambridge, Oct. 11.—Practice here this afternoon was very light, owing to the fact that the players were somewhat siif from Saturday's game. Harvard meets Amberst on Wednesday and West Point on Saturday. Capt. Cabot will save his best men for the latter game, and go to West Point determined to make a better score than that of a year ago. It is expected that Doucette will be able to play on Saturday. In McGuire, Hatch, Cochrane, and Garrison, Harvard seems to be well supplied with quarter backs, Garrison is a new candidate for the place, although he has had some experience on his class eleven. Several of the veteran players are still bothered by old in juries. Norton Shaw is having trouble with his knee, and Cochrane is in the same fix. Sullivan's knee will keep him out of the game for some time, while Wheeler's nose does not seem to get well. Cozzens and Brown, the two half backs, have shown up very poorly this year, considering the high standard of Haughton is really the only candidate for full back that Harvard has at present. His work is undeniably poor, and shows no signs of improvement. He handles the pigskin as if it were a baseball. Parker, the substitute full back, is a far better player, but is very light for the position. pounds, allowing fifteen men for a team, for Satur-day afternoons and games on Election and Thanks-giving Days; Red Bank, Keyport, and Rahway pre-ferred. NEW HAVEN, Oct. 11.—Yale's 'varsity football coachers this afternoon introduced an innovation into the make-up of the eleven that is unprecedented in the history of the sport. Chamberlin was taken from full back and placed at left end. Last year he played centre. He releft end. Last year he played centre. He re-turned to college two weeks ago and has been playing behind the line. To-day he was placed at end. It is a question which place he will fill. If Cutten does not develop for centre Chamber-lin will play there. If no other full back devel-ops he will be seen in that place. If he shows up-regularly at end as well as he did to-day, that will be his permanent station.

"Brink" Thorne, captain of Yale's '95 team, arrived in time to coach the candidates to-day.

"Brink" Thorne, captain of Yale's '95 team, arrived in time to coach the candidates to-day, The 'varsity scored four times and the "scrubs" were unable to cross the line. Only a small crowd was present, and there was not the enthusiasm that the brilliant practice deserved. In the second half McGee, who had replaced Allen on the 'varsity, injured his knee and will be kept out of the game a week. He has been playing a first-class guard and tackle.

PRINCETON, Oct. 11.—The Tigers were put through a rousing tractice game this afternoon against the strongest "scrub" eleven of this season. The 'varsity was soverely handicapped by the absence of Baird from quarter back and Edwards from right guard, both of whom are out of the game for the present on account of slight injuries received in the game with Annapolis on last Saturday.

The first eleven played football, but the "scrubs" fought furiously. After ten minutes of the hardest kind of playing Wheeler crossed the "scrubs" goal line for a touch-down and kicked the goal. After an exchange of kicks the "scrubs" goal had by a series of mass plays on the "Varsity tackies pushed the ball down the 'Varsity tackies pushed the ball down the 'Varsity ackies of the hall on a fumble. The 'Varsity backs by good interference in end runs brought the ball to the ten-yard line, but there the "scrubs" stood like a rock and held them for three downs. Wheeler was equal to the emergency, however, and lifted a goal from the field. Neither side scored in the second half. Breckenridge, left end for the "scrubs" made some phonomenal tackles.

ITHACA, Oct. 11.—For the first time in two

ITHACA, Oct. 11.—For the first time in two years Percy Field was closed to spectators this afternoon. The coachers of the football team thought it desirable to have secret practice. afternoon. The coachers of the football team thought it desirable to have secret practice. The first part was devoted to preliminary work, and then Coach Warner gave a haif bour's blackboard instruction of new plays. After this the 'Varsity and second eleven lined up and played the beet practice game of the season. In offensive work the Varsity backs were Perkins at full, Wilson and Whiting at half, and Young at quarter. Schoch, who has been trying for half, has been moved back to his old place at ce tre, and the result is a great strengthening of the line. Quarter back Young plays full back in defensive work, Perkins going up to strengthen the line. The right side of the line has been made stronger by putting Hackett at right tackle. He is rather light, but makes up in eleverness for his deficiency in weight. The guard on this side is Faville, who is rapidly learning the points of the position. Torney and Grimshaw are the two whose chances are the best for making right end. The left side of the line is very strong with the three veterans, fleed at guard, Lueder at tackle, and Mckeever at end.

at guard. Lueder at tackle, and McKeever at end.

Williamsrown, Oct. 11.—The Williams team is the lightest that has represented the college in years. Four of the heavy line men of '96's team have graduated, and there are no candidates to take their piaces. There is very little material in the freshman class, and many of the vacancies will probably be diled by men who played on the second eleven last year.

Chadwell and Rutter, last year's ends, are pleying there this year. Both are putting up a good game, though neither is playing in his old form. Itisley is the most promising man for substitute end. The candidates for tackles are all new. Simmons is playing a fine game, and will probably make the team. Be Camp, Williams, and Eaton are also working hard for the place. Capt. Lotz will play right guard this year. He is a good, steady player. Black and Seeley are trying for left guard. Both are rather slow, but Black is heavy and may develop into an excellent player. Seeley was on the second team last year. Bieler is the most promising candidate for centre. He is rather light, but is playing a good, snappy game.

The team is strong back of the line. Davis, last year's quarter, is playing there again. His passing is quick and clean, and he uses good judgment. Marsh, the quarter on the second team, will probably be sub-quarter on the Varsity. The candidates for half back are: Branch, Williams, Seeley (1901), and C. H. Davis. Of these, Branch is the only one who made the team last year. He is playing well, and hits the line hard. Williams and Davis are also doing well. Denman at full back is kicking well, and is a good line breaker. He played back on the team last year, and is putting up a better game than ever this fall. L. Draper, another veieran half back, will be unable to play this year. His loss will be felt, as he was practically sure of his old place.

GOLF STARTS AT OAKLAND.

SANDS BEATEN BY HAMILTON IN THE MATCH PLAY ROUND.

Porball Roose Captures the Gold Medal in the Preliminary Play-Travis, the Club Cham-pien, Defeated by a Single Stroke-Seven Play for the Consolation Cup-The Cards. Some close medal play between the leaders in the preliminary round and the defeat of W. H. Sands by C. M. Hamilton were the striking in cidents at the open tournament of the Oakland Golf Club yesterday. It was the first public competition held by the organization and unusual care was taken to have the affair a succoss. The clubhouse, a pretty Queen Anne cottage on a high bluff overlooking the links, was crowded by the players and their friends. Among the women onlookers, who, after the medal round, joined the golfers at luncheon, were Mrs. E. S. Turton, Mrs. J. H. Taylor, Miss Bessie Whipple, Miss Cassandra Lee, Mrs. George Upshar, and Mrs. Foxhall P. Kcene.; Sands made the best score for the first nine holes. He had two poor holes on the second round. On the fourth hole of 143 yards he sliced the cleek drive into a bunker, so that a 7 was added to his card, and by getting bunkered from his brassey the fifth hole cost 10. He made this hole in 5 on the first round. The short hole cost Travis a 7 going out, and he was weak in putting on the second round. holds the medal record of 42 for the course, but these shortcomings yesterday brought him the totals of 46 and 48 for the successive rounds. Wright was in strange territory and he was in all sorts of difficulties going out, but his second round was a well-earned 47. Keene lost 2 strokes in putting on the ninth green, but otherwise he had a good round going out. A 7 for the short hole marred the second round, yet his average play was good enough to gain the gold medal for the best score. Hamilton did not show very prominently in the preliminary round. In the approach shots Hamilton had the better of it, for either his good luck or fine skill brought the ball within short putting distance of the hole in most cases. They halved the first hole, but Hamilton won the next two and was still one within short putting distance of the hole in most cases. They halved the first hole, but Hamilton won the next two, and was still one up at the ninth. On the tenth hole Sands played his iron shot to the left of the green and behind an apple tree. Hamilton missed an easy put for 4, yet won the hole, 5 strokes to 6. They halved the eleventh in 4s. Both made the twelfth green in 3, when Hamilton's approach put rimmed the cup, and Sands was short. The latter failed on an eight-foot put and was consequently three holes down. short hole in 4s, but the fourteenth fell to Sands, due to a long cleek shot that made the green, in 6 strokes to 7.

Both drove the first bunker on the 542-yard sixteenth hole. The next two shots Hamilton played with the cleek, Sands, despite the hard ground, playing the brassey. The advantage gained was lost by a better approach by Hamilton, Each putted poorly, and Hamilton finally won. This made him dormie three, and, as Sands went into the bunker from his second shot on the next hole, the match was over. Hamilton won the cup in the bublic match at Van Cortianult last November. He has since played in open tournaments at Lakewood, Baitusrol, Seabright, and Norwood, but without conspicuous success. Not one of the other matches calls for extended comment. The summaries follow:

The first regular monthly meeting for the new school year of 1897-98 of the New York I. A. A.

will be held this afternoon. The most important business to be transacted is the election of officers and the arranging of the football schedule. A lively fight is expected over the Presidency between Browne of Trinity, Breysen of Berkeley, and McCabe of Dwight. The three schools will enter the football contest. Browne and Breysen are captains of their respective ama, while McCabe is a player. The feeling among some of the schools is that the Presidency should go to one not on a team, so that a protest or wrangle could be decided withous any partiality being shown.
